

EXT. PARK - NIGHT

We see an old chair sitting in the middle of a field. Cobwebs and dust cover old, wooden tables. A big clock sits in a ditch next to an empty road.

We hear a blood-curdling scream. A women's scream (this is from MARTHA). A figure, THOMAS (male, late 20s-early 30s, fit) blurs past the background, running. Thomas runs past a sign splattered in blood.

MARTHA (O.S.)
THOMAS!!!

Thomas hears it, not knowing where it's coming from.

THOMAS
...Martha...?

He keeps running for his life. Looking back in horror. He runs past a white fence with blood drawn as a smiley face. The hero keeps running.

Thomas runs toward a tree. Suddenly...

REGRET (O.S.)
(distorted)
...Thomaaaaassss... You can run but you can't hiiiiddeee...

Thomas stops cold in his tracks. He looks behind him. Way off in the distance we see a shadowy figure standing still... watching him. In the darkness, we only really see the terrifying LED mask he has on. This is REGRET (male, fit).

Thomas backs up, terrified.

SUDDENLY... A body wrapped in a white sheet comes swinging at him. Thomas jumps back, yelling... The body slowly comes to a still, rope tied around the neck area, hanging from the tree. The hero sees another smiley face drawn in blood on the "face".

His eyes widen. We hear a sinister laughter. Thomas looks around, afraid. Suddenly a strong wind blows at him. Thomas, both from the panic and the strong wind, trips backwards.